Daily Prayer

For over a year we published a daily prayer on the website: just a few lines that might help people pause and reflect.

We paused the daily prayer over the summer, but it has returned from the beginning of September, and a new prayer with a photograph is published each day on the website.

It is an invitation to pause the day for a few moments, either to look ahead, if you use the morning light to be your time of reflection, or to look back over the day if the evening is your pausing time.

If you would like to help write a few lines for these, then that help would be gratefully received.

Bulletin Articles

We hope you have enjoyed reading the Bulletin, and you have found it a useful way find out news about what has been happening. Equally, we hope the Bulletin has been an easy way to connect with events and online groups.

As some groups are planning to begin meeting face-to-face over the next wee while, we'd like to use the Bulletin as the main way of letting people know what is happening each week, in the same way the intimation sheet worked each Sunday. We don't have that particular resource at the moment, so, if you would like folk to know what is happening in your organisation and extend an invitation to others to join you, then please email Catherine in the office (mail@nkchurch.org.uk) with your 'intimation', and it will be added to the Wee Bulletin each week.

We publish the Bulletin on a Friday morning, so any intimations ought to be in Catherine's hands by Thursday morning at the latest. Looking forward to hearing from you with news and events and thoughts and anything you think might be interesting to the congregation.

Live Stream

As some of you know, we had a few issues with our worship livestream last week.

We are exploring how to do this better and, at the same time, make it easy for people to log in and feel part of the worshipping community.

In order to do this, we are going to pause the live stream for a short while for us to look for a more effective platform to broadcast. It may take a few weeks, and another learning curve, so please bear with us as we do some research and learn from others, seeking some help and advice.

Meanwhile, the video and podcast continue to be made available directly from the website. These offer the same themes and reflections specifically edited for the video. You can also have a coffee and watch in your pyjamas.

Thanks

Mr and Mrs Wilding would like to thank the congregation for the flowers they received after the service the other week, in celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary. Congratulations!

Looking for Hosts

In order to keep things going online, we are looking for a few folk who would be willing to open up and host Zoom meetings.

A few have already volunteered, but we would like to expand that.

We'll offer some training and some time to get used to what it involves, but it would help keep some of our regular groups going, such as Coffee Pot and some of the weekly groups that we ran before the summer.

We're in a crossover period at the moment, between everything online and the beginning of face-to-face meetings, but we'd also like to blend some of these so that people can still feel connected while face-to-face groups go ahead.

If you are interested, please email the office (mail@nkchurch.org.uk).
