Bearsden in Bloom

This weekend is the first Bearsden in Bloom event, where we are taking part in a community-wide event of litter picking and general tidying. If you are out and about, have a wee look around - socially distanced. You'll easily spot everyone in their hi-viz jackets.

Coming up in a couple of weeks is Walk to Worship Sunday. This is being organised by our joint COP26 group with St Andrews and St Josephs to invite everyone to walk to worship on 20th June. Even if you are not able to come to the sanctuary that Sunday, perhaps you might listen to the podcast version on your earphones and go for a walk at the same time.

Clean Air Day is 17th June and so we are trying to link into that and bring awareness to both clean air and climate. You'll be hearing a whole lot more about these themes in worship over the next wee while.

Having heard from Saffanna and Munir at Sofa Surfers this last week, and their journey from Syria and experience of coming to Scotland, you may be interested in linking to Refugee Festival Scotland.

It runs from 14-20 June online, and there is a plethora of events including film, food, art, discussion, in-person events, and online events. All of it free.

Next week's Sofa Surfers (3rd June) is another unique evening. We're quite good at these now, but this will be up there near the top with our own version of 'What's My Line'.

Of course, some are too young to remember... but it will be the usual informal, relaxed, and good-natured evening for every generation to take part and play.

7pm on Zoom

Our maximum number is 75 in the sanctuary. Please phone to book a space if you wish to attend.

We're almost in June already. How did that happen? If anyone knows, please let us all know.

We're going to take a wee break from things from July and August, so Zoomday School will finish at the end of June, and Sofa Surfers too along with Coffee Pot and the Quiz.

Despite being restricted in what we can do, it is still important that we change patterns every so often. If anyone would like to organise and run summer editions of these, however, then please let Roddy know, and he will be able to give you all the login details for Zoom.

Beginning to return. On Wednesday 2nd you are invited to a Think Tank meeting at 7.30 on Zoom where we are going to take 40 minutes to explore ideas for some safe events we can organise after the summer to bring people back, depending on restrictions.

These won't be events with dates attached yet, but general ideas how we might find easy ways for folk to get together again.
